at Coastal Carolina University

What does a resort tourism management major study?

Resort tourism management is a major within the Wall College of Business where students focus on developing the skills necessary for managing hospitality or tourism service organizations in the context of a resort destination area. In addition to the standard business curriculum, the resort tourism management curriculum includes internships and specialized coursework in the areas of quality process management, real estate finance investment and resort planning.

Why study resort tourism management at Coastal Carolina University?

- The Wall College of Business is accredited by AACSB International, the premier accrediting body for business colleges.
- Students majoring in resort tourism are required to participate in three 480-hour paid internships in guest service production, guest service delivery, and guest service management. Students choose the segment of the tourism industry in which they want to work.
- The Myrtle Beach area is one of the top tourist destinations on the east coast.
- Students can apply for the Wall Fellow program, a unique organization designed to prepare top business students for high-level careers in major U.S. and international corporations and organizations. The two-year program features internships and coursework covering specific interpersonal and communications skills, ethics, personal appearance, and business and social etiquette.
