

Acknowledgements

First, I would like to thank the authors who submitted their work to Bridges this year. Without their interest and hard work, this publication would be impossible. Second, I would like to thank the professors who sponsored these students and worked with them during the research, writing, and editing process. The list of student authors and their faculty sponsors is below:

Student	Faculty Sponsor
Mark Barnes	Dr. Philip Whalen
Jessica Kata	Dr. Min Ye
Desiree Leach	Dr. Vladimir Gulis
Brian Quigley	Dr. Kehui Xu
Kylie Roberts	Dr. John Piroch
Sherri Tomlinson	Dr. Paul Richardson

This year's Managing Editor, Amanda Brian, did a tremendous amount of work with several of the authors' articles, and she deserves recognition for her hard work toward the success of the journal in general.

The Editorial Board was very active in reading and responding to the articles this year, and they deserve to be thanked for their efforts. Everyone on the Board was asked to read the submissions to the journal this year, and the entire Board met to choose the articles that are printed here.

Charmaine Tomczyk, the Director of Undergraduate Research at CCU, deserves special recognition for her efforts toward improving the environment for student research at the University and for her support of the proposal to change the focus of Bridges to student research.

Philip Whalen, the Director of the Honors Program at CCU and an active member of the Editorial Board, was instrumental not only in helping to craft the proposal to change the focus of Bridges, but in seeking out faculty and students who would be interested in publishing in the journal.

The following members of the Editorial Board served as reviewers for the articles in this issue, and it is thanks largely to their work that the articles are polished and professional:

- Paula Vincini, English
- Jen Boyle, English

Finally, the following faculty members from outside the Editorial Board also served as reviewers with subject-matter expertise, and their work was vitally important in the development and polishing of the articles:

- Brandon Palmer, History
- Greg Goelzhouser, Politics and Geography
- Holley Tankersley, Politics and Geography
- Kerry Schwanz, Psychology/Sociology
- Erin Burge, Marine Science
- Sara Brallier, Psychology/Sociology
- Louis Keiner, Chemistry and Physics
- Teresa Burns, Chemistry and Physics
- Mike Ferguson, Biology

--Scott Pleasant, Editor (2010-2011)