

About Coastal Carolina University

Coastal Carolina University is a comprehensive, public liberal arts institution located between Myrtle Beach and Conway, S.C. It is one of only 20 colleges and universities with a PGA Golf Management program accredited by the PGA of America.

Founded in 1954, Coastal Carolina is an NCAA Division I University with an enrollment of more than 9,000 students. Along with strong academic programs, CCU is especially fortunate to have one of the most appealing locations in the nation. Nine miles from Myrtle Beach, one of America's most popular golf and family resorts, the University is ideally located to give students easy access to a wide array of recreational activities.

CCU's combination of strong academics, campus life, location and affordability creates the perfect environment for success in the classroom and the world.

Coastal Carolina University PGA Golf Management Program

The Coastal Carolina University PGA Golf Management Program is a part of the E. Craig Wall Sr. College of Business Administration. PGA Golf Management students are required to complete the University's academic requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Concurrently, these students also complete the PGA of America's membership requirements prior to graduation.

CCU PGA Golf Management Entrance Requirements

Prospective PGA Golf Management Program students must first apply for admission to Coastal Carolina University. Once accepted into the University, they complete a separate PGA Golf Management Program application. All students accepted into the program must have a verified handicap of eight (8) or less. PGM-specific scholarships are available for qualifying students.

Graduation Requirements

Coastal Carolina University PGA Golf Management students must meet all the academic requirements of the Wall College. Students may major in Marketing, Management, Finance, Resort Tourism Management, Accounting or Economics.

Additionally, they must complete all of the PGA's membership requirements for PGA Golf Management students. These include the PGA's three educational courses, Levels 1 to 3; 16 months of full-time internship work; and passing the PGA's Playing Ability Test.

Coastal Carolina University's PGA Golf Management Program requirements take four and a half years to complete, and additional expenses are associated with the program. For more information, contact the CCU PGA golf management office at 843-349-2680 or ccupgm@coastal.edu.

Facilities

The General James Hackler Course at Coastal Carolina University, formerly Quail Creek Golf Club, is one of the most respected golf courses in the Grand Strand area. A local favorite since opening in 1968, this 18-hole course is recognized for its exceptional year-round playing conditions. The course was completely renovated in 2011, and its MiniVerde greens and championship bunkering make it an ideal facility for the training and development of future PGA of America members. The course's convenient location near the University's main campus gives PGA Golf Management students a variety of practice facilities. These include a driving range, a short game practice area, a three-hole short course and an expanded putting green. The Hackler Course provides a first-class learning environment for the University's PGA Golf Management students.
