Students have the option of taking any upper level course (300 level and above) in Religious Studies provided that the course has not been used to fulfill a lower requirement. In addition, students may opt to take PHIL 325 Religion in Contemporary American Film to satisfy one elective in the minor.

*Students using RELG 103 World Religions to satisfy a core requirement or a foundation requirement will fulfill the minor requirement but will not have the 3 credit hours registered in the minor. The minor sequence should be determined in consultation with the student's major adviser and an adviser in the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies. A student must earn a C or better in all courses to be applied toward the minor in Religious Studies.
