For more information about SJRI sponsored classes, workshops, research projects, scholarship opportunities, activities or ways you can help, visit our website: www.coastal.edu/sjri

Or contact:

Deborah Perkins, Ph.D.
Associate Professor
Department of Sociology
(843) 349-2693
dperkins@coastal.edu
Social Justice is about the pursuit of a world where everyone has equal access to opportunity and rewards regardless of their socio-economic background, race, color, sex, gender identification, sexual orientation, age, disability, veteran’s status, creed, or national origin.

Social Justice is a central part of Coastal Carolina University’s mission Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) that seeks to train students who are both knowledgeable and prepared to be productive, responsible, healthy citizens by emphasizing high quality teaching and engaged learning through research, creative activities, and expert collaboration.

The Social Justice Research Initiative uses CCU’s teacher-scholar model and commitment to experiential learning with:

Education
Teach future social justice leaders

Research
Support innovative scholarship and pedagogy for social change

Action
Engage in community service and organizing