Course Description: CHIN211 Intermediate Chinese II (3 credits) (Prereq: CHIN 210, or permission of the instructor) This course refines and further develops the fundamental language skills (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) in preparation for advanced-level course work. Using Mandarin Chinese as their primary language, students engage in activities at novice-mid proficiency level, necessary to function successfully in everyday situations in Chinese culture. The course also helps them gain more and in-depth knowledge of different aspects of Chinese culture and society. Students learn to discuss in Chinese a wide range of topics relating to social life such as seeing a doctor, asking and giving directions, and renting and leasing an apartment. F,S, Su.

About CHIN 211

Course Objectives:

CHIN 211 will:

- Train students to function appropriately in Chinese culture using Mandarin Chinese as their primary language.
- Improve students' skills in Mandarin Chinese to communicate across ethnic, cultural, and ideological boundaries.
- Deepen students' understanding of Chinese behavioural culture and related thought patterns.

General Student Learning Outcomes:

After successful completion of the course, students will be able to perform the following tasks at an intermediate proficiency level:

- Comprehend paragraph-length speech concerning a variety of themes and topics relating to social life (school orientation day, dining at a restaurant, seeing a doctor, renting and leasing an apartment, etc.).
- Successfully handle a wide range of task-oriented and social functions pertaining to the topics listed above, such as participating in casual conversations.

- Identify key facts and some details in conversational and descriptive materials on such topic areas as listed above.
- Write simple letters and essays concerning school life as well as social experiences.
- Use cultural knowledge to enable successful interaction with speakers of Mandarin Chinese.

Texts:

Liu et al.: Integrated Chinese Level 2, Part 1 Textbook (3rd Edition, Required)
 Liu et al.: Integrated Chinese Level 2, Part 1 Character Workbook (3rd Edition, Required)
 Liu et al.: Integrated Chinese Level 2, Part 1 audio MP3 (3rd Edition, Required)
 Pocket Oxford Chinese Dictionary (Oxford Dictionaries) (4th Edition, Optional)

Course Requirements:

In order to ensure that your learning is enjoyable and fruitful, it is important that you meet the requirements and follow the rules outlined below.

1. Attendance and Participation (20%). Class attendance and participation are crucial. Part of your grade is based on attendance and absences count against your final grade. You cannot participate if you are not present, so attendance counts as a prerequisite to participation. You may miss 3 classes without it affecting your final grade. In order to progress in understanding and speaking Chinese, you must hear and speak it on a regular basis. You will receive a 15 pt. performance grade once a week (5 pt. per class). These scores will be averaged at the end of the semester to obtain your final participation grade.
2. Daily Homework (15%). Completing your daily assignments on time is essential for your success in this class. These assignments include:
 - 1) Preview exercises: you will watch tutorials/presentations about important vocabulary and grammar made by your instructor in order to acquire necessary knowledge and skills in Mandarin Chinese. You will then complete pre-class assignments to practice what you have learned.
 - 2) Pronunciation exercises: Pinyin (the romanization of Chinese pronunciation) is the foundation of speaking Chinese. You will spend the entire semester learning and practicing the pinyin system by watching online tutorials, reading pronunciation strategies, and completing listening comprehension exercises and recording assignments.
 - 3) Practice of essential characters: 汉字(hanzi) or characters are the building blocks of the Chinese writing systems. Throughout the semester, you will learn approximately two hundred characters. You will watch tutorials about the stroke orders and the meanings embodied in the characters and then practice assigned characters in your workbook.
3. Preparation checks (10%). You are required to preview the materials covered in each session. There will be approximately twelve regular preparation checks, worth 20 pts. each, throughout the semester, as indicated on the schedule. You are allowed to drop the lowest grade at the end of the semester. The purpose of these checks is to verify that you have prepared the lesson for that day by doing the required assignments the night before. Thus, these checks are not meant to be difficult. Each check will take no more than 5 minutes of class time. At the end of the semester, you may drop your lowest grade.

Makeup checks will not be administrated.

4. Chapter Tests (15%). There will be 3 chapter tests and no final exam. Upon the completion of two lessons, there will be a chapter test.
5. Mid-term oral exam (10%). In order to improve your speaking, you need to prepare a presentation on a given topic in Chinese. You are expected to demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of the Chinese language and culture in a creative way in terms of the form and content of your presentations. More details will be given in class.
6. Final oral project (10%). In this group project, you will be divided into several groups. You need to work together to make a video about a given topic. You will receive both an individual grade and a group grade.
7. Cultural Projects & Events (12%). Learning interesting facts about Chinese culture and making cultural comparisons between Chinese culture and your own is a vital part of this course. You will have the opportunity to participate in the following activities and events to deepen your understanding of Chinese culture.
 - 1) Culture highlights reports (5 %): At the end of each lesson, there is a text about a specific aspect of Chinese culture such as the Chinese naming traditions and the ranking system in Chinese family. You will find related articles and videos on Moodle that supplement these texts to help you better understand the topic. You need to write your reflections on the materials that you read/watched based on the questions given by your instructor. This assignment is completed in English and will be graded based on the accuracy, the depth, and the creativity of your work.
 - 2) Culture Presentation (4%): You will conduct research on selected topics about Chinese culture. The topics will be given on the first day of class and you will give a group presentation in English on the marked dates. More details will be given in class.
 - 3) Cultural Activities/Events (3%): Throughout the semester, there will be several cultural events relating to Chinese customs, traditions, and arts such as Chinese holiday celebrations, Chinese film showings, and Calligraphy Night. I will announce the events at the beginning of the semester. You are encouraged to come to all of them and you need to attend at least two events to receive 3% of your final grade.
8. Compositions (8%). You will need to type out two short compositions using Chinese characters on the given topics. More details will be given in class.

Useful resources to learn and practice Chinese: In addition to the aforementioned activities, you have two other options to improve your skills in Mandarin Chinese.

- 中文角 (Chinese Conversation Table): the conversation table takes place every week and you are welcome to join the group to practice what you have learned in class and to learn more about Chinese society and culture.

- FLIC: You are encouraged to visit the Foreign Language Instructional Center (FLIC) to familiarize yourself with the resources that the language lab provides. <https://www.coastal.edu/flic/>
- Other useful online learning resources can be found on Moodle.

LIS GRADING STANDARDS

Letter Grade	CCU Standard	Low %	High %
A	Excellent	90	100
B+	Very Good	86	89
B	Good	80	85
C+	Above Average	75	79
C	Average	70	74
D+	Below Average	65	69
D	Poor	60	64
F	Fail	00	59

Only excellent work will receive an A. Do not expect such a grade unless you strive to produce excellent work for this level.

Attendance Policies:

“Absences will be excused only for those documented cases listed on p. 41 of the current CCU Catalog. Students will be allowed four (4) unexcused absences on the MWF schedule or three (3) unexcused absences on the MW / TTh schedule throughout the semester. For each additional unexcused absence, two (2) points will be taken off the final grade. Students who miss in excess of 25% of all class meetings (unexcused absences) will receive a failing grade. (25% = 10 absences for MWF classes and 7 absences for TTh classes)”.

(Authorized by the Dean's Office, January 3, 2011).

As for summer classes, students will be allowed two (2) unexcused absences. The rest follows the attendance policy above.

Documentation Policy:

Documentation must be submitted directly to the professor the day the student returns to class. The professor is not required to accept any excuses after this date. All excuses are subject to verification. IF THE OFFICE OF STUDENT CONDUCT FINDS THAT YOU HAVE SUBMITTED A FAKE EXCUSE, YOU WILL RECEIVE AN "F" IN THE COURSE.

Make-up Policy:

Only homework submitted by the deadline will receive credit. The professor is not obligated to accept late work of any kind. Absences, excused or not, do not absolve a student from the responsibility of completing all assigned work promptly. Students who miss assignments, quizzes, exams or other coursework obligations due to documented, excused absences will be allowed to MAKE UP THE WORK WITHIN ONE WEEK OF THEIR RETURN TO CLASS OR THE STUDENT FORFEITS THE OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE UP THE ASSIGNMENT. It will be the student's responsibility to contact the instructor and make arrangements at the instructor's convenience. The instructor is not obligated to allow a student to make up work missed due to an unexcused absence.

Honor Pledge (Know the Code!)
