President David DeCenzo said he receives a monthly report from them. Dean/Vice President of Research & Emerging Initiatives Mike Roberts coordinates with the firm regarding pre-work of sourcing grants which necessitates help in Washington. Our congressmen may be supportive of projects, but someone is needed to make sure letters are written on time and delivered to the appropriate places. Some grants and projects, especially for Marine Science, have been attributed to their efforts. A decade ago earmarks disappeared, and it now takes boots on the ground to get something through the House Ways and Means Committee. Also, Clemson has been exceptionally supportive of programs where David Wilkins has been influential. DeCenzo feels that the firm has been very beneficial, and not having a lobbyist would put us at a disadvantage.

Chairman Bill Biggs stated that lobbyists help congressmen across the state to push the votes for grants and programs across the board for the universities.

Mullen would like to have access to an end-of-the-year report. Biggs requested that an end-of-the-year report be available prior to renewing the contract in the May meetings.

DeCenzo stated that the state budget had not been completed. The Senate budget bill basically says that it is not going to include pass throughs and health care. Yesterday the House of Representatives said they would only allow increase to cover pension. Health care is about $400,000 and pension is approximately $1.7M.

Until the budget is completed, DeCenzo recommends not setting tuition. Most other schools are also waiting to announce tuition.

The S298 Higher Education Opportunity bill will be moved to next year's docket.

Associate Provost for Admissions and Merit Awards Amanda Craddock noted that Admissions needs to know tuition and housing by early July in order to have time to redo the admission packets and send them out.

Hanna stated that all trustees up for renewal this year have been renewed. New trustees Lee Belcher will join the Board of Trustees on July 1 and will be at the meeting tomorrow.

As there was no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
