| Reading, Writing and Math Workshop  | Center for Excellence (Prince 213F) | ➢ Tutors are available to review with you the types of readings and questions that may be on the Praxis 1 Math, Reading and Writing tests (along with general test-taking strategies).
➢ The assistance is one-on-one and can be scheduled at your discretion.
➢ We heavily encourage you to take advantage of this opportunity, as it is free and beneficial. |
| Praxis I Workshop                   | UNIV 110E                           | ➢ A total of three Praxis workshops will be provided during UNIV 110E: Praxis Reading, Writing and Math.
➢ Unless you have exempted Praxis I, all UNIV 101E students will be required to go to at least one of these seminars.
➢ In the seminar, the students will get a general overview of the Praxis I testing experience.
➢ It is still recommended that if you are struggling that you seek tutoring or extra assistance. |
| Praxis I Work Packets               | Center for Excellence (Prince 213F) | ➢ We have sample test worksheets that closely resemble the types and formats of questioning that you will experience on the Praxis I Math, Reading and Writing test.
➢ You can come at any time to receive the practice materials, as well as general advice. |
| Praxis I Books                      | Center for Excellence (Prince 213F) | ➢ You may sign out Praxis I study guides.
➢ These guides review the format of the test, how the test is graded, and general test-taking tips.
➢ The books also contain sample problems for you to practice. |
| ETS Study Companions               | www.ets.org                         | ➢ At this site you can practice and see sample test questions, get tips and general information, and sign up for the Praxis I test. |
| Tutoring Help                       | University Math and Writing centers (Kearns Hall) | ➢ For extra writing and math assistance, the Math and Writing centers in Kearns Hall may be helpful to visit. |
