Draft Revisions to section 6.11 of the Faculty Manual: Graduate Faculty

The proposed is an extensive re-write of section 6.11. A Graduate Council subcommittee developed the first draft based on general directives from the initial discussion in Graduate Council. The draft was further discussed and revised in a subsequent Graduate Council meeting. It is now being distributed to the college graduate committees for further vetting and discussion. We have asked the colleges to solicit input from all faculty in their college, not just the currently designated graduate faculty. In the draft below, yellow highlighting indicates areas where the Graduate Council discussions did not reach a clear consensus, so we have left it for further discussion at the college level. Sections in red text are additions from me, as I was unable to attend the last Graduate Council meeting and appointed a substitute chair for the meeting. Some of those additions are simple one or two word clarifications, but others are additions to the discussion that I have added for your consideration. – Thanks, Rob Young

Faculty involved in teaching graduate courses or mentoring graduate students must be designated as members of the Graduate Faculty. The three categories of Graduate Faculty are Member, Affiliated Member, and External Graduate Committee Member. The privileges and selection criteria for each category are as follows:

1. Member
   1. Privileges:
      1. Teaching graduate courses in the member's area of expertise
      2. Directing theses and dissertations, serving on thesis and dissertation committees, and comprehensive, qualifying, or similar examination committees, in the member’s area of expertise, as appropriate.
      3. Eligible to serve on Graduate Council
   2. Criteria for Selection:
      1. Two schools of thought discussed, no consensus in the initial discussion:
         A) Terminal degree in the teaching discipline or a related discipline or
         B) Terminal degree in the teaching discipline or a related discipline, or alternative qualifications as stipulated in ACAD 118.
      2. Appointment at CCU at the rank of Lecturer/Assistant Professor/Assistant Librarian or above (Comment: Lecturer was added to this list in the discussion at Grad Council. I missed that conversation but assume the reason was that in some cases, a department might wish to appoint a lecturer to supervise a thesis or dissertation student. That seems reasonable, particularly if a qualified instructor wants to do this and is supported by their department, but I do see two issues: (1) supervising a thesis or dissertation is a multi-year commitment and the lecturer position, at least initially, is an annual appointment, and (2) if we are asking a lecturer to serve in this capacity, along with the scholarly activity and recognition that goes with that role, perhaps we should be working to convert that instructor to tenure-track. I offer the following alternative wording as an option for consideration: “Appointment at CCU at the rank of Assistant Professor/Assistant Librarian or above. In some cases, a qualified Lecturer or Senior Lecturer may be appointed.” This wording leaves the door open but also directs most lecturers to the Affiliate Member category, unless a department specifically wants to qualify them to direct theses/dissertations in their discipline.

3. Evidence of professional or scholarly/creative activities and/or experience in discipline (as evidenced by some of the following: consultancies, performances, published work, work presented at professional meetings, grant applications, faculty development, serving as an officer in a professional society, graduate courses taught, theses directed, etc.)

2. Affiliate Member
   1. Privileges:
      1. Teaching graduate courses in the member's area of expertise
      2. Serving on thesis and dissertation committees compatible in the member's area of expertise, as appropriate. (Comment: Perhaps “comprehensive, qualifying, or similar examination committees” should also be in here. In many cases, departments may want committee thesis or dissertation members to serve in these capacities. For example, if a faculty member is on a student’s dissertation committee, and the department defines the comprehensive exam committee as consisting of the members of the dissertation committee, which is fairly common in many programs, then the faculty member has to be able to do both. If this is added, the only difference between Member and Affiliate Member privileges is that Affiliates can’t be the major professor/chair the committees for thesis or dissertation students. I believe that was the main point all along.)
   2. Criteria for Selection:
      1. Terminal degree in the teaching discipline or a related discipline, or alternative qualifications as stipulated in ACAD 118.
      2. Appointment at CCU in one of the following categories: visiting faculty employed on a full-time basis; faculty employed on a part-time or temporary basis; lecturers and instructors (Comment: move lecturers and instructors to the front of the list. Also, do we still have “instructors?” Perhaps this should say “lecturers and senior lecturers”); non-teaching staff members; retired faculty; other qualified professionals with expertise in a scholarly discipline or professional field.

3. External Graduate Committee Member
   1. Privileges:
   2. Criteria for Selection:
      1. Terminal degree in the teaching/research discipline or some combination of the following: Sustained contributions to the discipline through research, scholarship or creative activity; sustained professional activity; or unique expertise.

2. Not a full or part time CCU faculty member

Members and Affiliate Members are expected to actively participate in the graduate program and maintain a high level of professional competence in the member’s discipline. Active participation may include various combinations, as appropriate, of graduate teaching, graduate research, mentoring of graduate thesis/dissertations students, and service to graduate programs. Teaching loads for graduate faculty are determined by the Dean of the College in consultation with the Department Chair/Supervisor. Adjustments, where appropriate, may vary depending on various criteria, such as expectations for research, scholarship, or creative works, external funding levels and expectations, class size, course format and activities, mentoring loads for thesis, dissertation, and internship students, contributions to departmental or university initiatives and administrative needs, or other reasons approved at the departmental and college level.

Member and Affiliate Member graduate faculty are appointed for a 6-year term or until their next promotion and tenure review, whichever is first. Renewal applications for graduate faculty status, if desired, should be submitted by the faculty member concurrent with scheduled promotion and retention applications, or after 6 years if no promotion is scheduled. Both initial appointments and renewals for Graduate Faculty status should be submitted using the Graduate Faculty Membership Application and Renewal Form. Initial appointments can be initiated (1) by the department at the time of initial hire, (2) by the faculty member at any time, or (3) in the case of External Graduate Committee Members, by the faculty chair of a student’s thesis or dissertation committee. The form requires submission of a C.V. and, for Members and Affiliate Members, approval by the department, the college graduate committee, the department’s dean/University Librarian, and the dean of the College of Graduate Studies and Research. Departments or colleges may specify in their own guidelines the criteria for departmental approval (e.g. chair’s approval, majority vote of all or some defined subset of departmental faculty, etc.). For External Graduate Committee Chair applications, approval is only required from the thesis/dissertation committee chair, the graduate program coordinator/director, and the graduate program dean. College deans/University Librarian maintain the option to appoint Graduate Faculty within their units depending on program needs as articulated by graduate program coordinators/directors and may consider historical contributions to graduate study in the appointment process.

Non-reappointment to the graduate faculty may be for any of the following reasons:

1. Omission of supporting evidence for review
2. Lack of maintaining appropriate levels of professional or scholarly/creative activities in one’s discipline; or
3. Inactivity in graduate education

When a recommendation for non-reappointment is made, or when an initial application is denied, a faculty member may resubmit their application for reconsideration by adding a letter of explanation to the original application form and resubmitting the application for review by the college graduate committee, the college dean/University Librarian, and the dean of the College of Graduate Studies and Research. Resubmission of an application or renewal for graduate faculty status must be submitted within thirty days of notice of the decision to deny the application, and a final decision should be rendered within 30 days of the resubmission.

Current wording of Section 6.11

6.11 Graduate Faculty

Faculty involved in teaching graduate courses or mentoring graduate students must be designated as members of the Graduate Faculty at CCU and should have one of the following credentials: an earned doctorate/terminal degree in the teaching discipline or a related discipline or possess alternative qualifications as stipulated in ACAD-SENA 118. While the specific requirements may vary by college or academic program, individuals applying for membership to the Graduate Faculty at CCU must demonstrate:

- Potential and planned contributions to graduate studies, and
- Sustained contributions to the discipline through research, scholarship or creative activity, or
- Sustained professional activity, or
- Unique expertise.

Faculty submit a current C.V. to the Dean of the College/University Librarian with a cover letter describing (1) which items on the C.V. are relevant to the graduate degree program(s)/courses offered in the college and (2) plans for future contributions to graduate studies. The appropriate Graduate Studies committee of each College reviews the applications and makes recommendations to the Dean of the College/University Librarian. The Dean/University Librarian reviews the recommendations and informs the faculty whether or not they have been appointed to the Graduate Faculty. The Dean of the College/University Librarian maintains the option to appoint Graduate Faculty depending on program needs as articulated by Program Coordinators/Directors and may consider historical contributions to graduate study in the appointment process. The term of appointment to the Graduate Faculty is for 3 years, after which faculty must reapply.

Upon appointment and reappointment to the Graduate Faculty, each faculty member will be awarded a stipend. The Office of Graduate Studies will maintain and distribute as needed the current listing of Graduate Faculty at CCU. All new faculty members hired will be reviewed during the first semester of employment and will be notified by the Dean/University Librarian regarding their Graduate Faculty status before the end of that first semester. College representatives to Graduate Council must be members of the Graduate Faculty (4.7.10 Graduate Council, p. 22).
