CCU Women in STEM Fellowship
Mentor Application

Name: ____________________________  Email: ____________________________

Major: ____________________________

One of the main goals of the Women in STEM Fellowship is to create a mentorship program in which female undergraduate and graduate students can offer advice and support to new female STEM majors.

The Women in STEM Fellowship can provide mentor assistantships to support the efforts of a selected group of mentors every semester. The roles of a mentor are to help faculty advisors with events, organizing and leading group activities, and contribute to the development of a robust mentorship program that reaches out to students at the early stages of their major.

Mentor assistantships will be made based on selection after full review of a complete application.

If you are interested in a position as a mentor, please elaborate on the following points:

I. State in a paragraph what you hope to gain from being a mentor.

II. Please state what you think you can contribute to the group.

III. If you have previously served as Women in STEM Fellowship mentor, please provide a summary of your accomplishments and contributions as a mentor.

Please send applications to:
Ina Seethaler, Ph.D.
isethale@coastal.edu