

QUESTIONS TO ASK WHEN DECIDING WHERE TO LIVE:

Location

- Is the location convenient?
- Is there enough parking for you and your guests?
- Is it within walking distance to campus OR
- Is it near public transportation or complex shuttle service?
- Have you checked to make sure that there are no zoning issues if you are considering a rental house in a traditional single-family neighborhood?

Conditions/Quality

- Have you viewed the actual rental unit that you will be living in? (Or had a virtual tour)
- Are the conditions in the rental unit acceptable to you?
- Has the landlord made any promises to you about improvements or repairs to be made to the rental unit before you move in?
- If so, have those promises been put in writing?
- Have you asked the landlord specific questions about things that are important to you?
- Have you used other resources to gather more information? (e.g. talking to current or former tenants; looking at online reviews)

Extras

- Does the rental unit have all the amenities you want?
- Have you viewed the amenities (e.g. “clubhouse”, workout room, pool) to see if they meet your expectations and are worth the extra cost?
- Are pets allowed? If so, are there restrictions on what type or size of pet?
- Does the rental property have access to internet service?
- Does the rental unit have easy access to recycling?

Costs

- How much is the monthly rent?
- What items are included in your rent, and what will you pay for separately?
- What other expenses will you have?
- What is the source of heat for the rental unit?
- How much do heat and utilities typically cost during the winter months?
- Will you be responsible for obtaining propane or other heating fuel for your rental unit? If so, will this involve a deposit or other extra cost to you?

Rental Contract

- Have you read your lease carefully?
- Have all your questions about your lease been answered?
- Have you reviewed all the charges and fees included in the lease?
- Do you understand that a lease is a binding contract that lasts for the full period set forth (usually one year)?
- Do you have money set aside to pay your security deposit and first month's rent when they are due?
- Have you reviewed all the landlord's rules and regulations (sometimes included in a separate document that is cross-referenced in the lease)?
- Does a violation of the rules result in finances being charged?
- Are you comfortable with all the rules?

Roommates and Conduct

- If you will be living with a roommate, have you discussed lifestyle issues and how you will share responsibility for chores, etc.?
- Do you understand that roommate issues are difficult to solve, legally, so it's important to talk about expectations and what's important to you in a living situation with your roommate(s) before you commit to living together?
- Are you aware that if your roommate doesn't pay his or her share of the rent you can be held responsible if you have a joint lease? (Note: Most rental companies in Conway and/or Myrtle Beach provide individual leases, but some still use joint leases, especially if you are renting a house, rather than an apartment.)
- Have you considered entering a "roommate contract" that spells out what you and your roommate have agreed to?
- Are you aware of the Horry County ordinances that may be relevant to you, such as the noise ordinance?
- Do you understand Coastal Carolina University's policy for enforcement of off-campus violations of the Code of Student Conduct?
