A note from our director

The Center's mission is to Real Estate and Economics studies and our sustainability efforts is to continue. Our goal in 2020 is to focus on enhancing our didactic and experiential programs to ensure that our students are well-prepared for the workforce. We have added online learning platforms to our curriculum to ensure that our students can continue their education through these times.

In this year of the COVID-19 pandemic, we have been working closely with the Center's faculty to ensure that our students are still able to receive the education they need. The Center is committed to providing our students with the best possible education, even in these challenging times.

Population Density

As can be observed in these maps, the built environment affects socializing exposure to the virus. Jay Martin, MBA Student

Real Estate Club

The 2020-2021 Executive Board

President

Kevan Peavy

Vice President

Jared Davis

Secretary

Andrew Kucenas

Treasurer

Katie Austin

Chairman of the Board

John Pendergrass

As an overview of the Real Estate Club’s growth, we were able to achieve increasing numbers of members and events despite the challenges of the pandemic. Currently, the new Executive Team is looking forward to planning events and activities for next year.

Jay Martin graduated from Coastal Carolina University in 2016. He is an investment associate with Nuveen, the investment real estate concentration. Based in Charlotte, N.C., Jay is responsible for providing equity and debt valuations for the assets in the United States. We are applying the principles of urban economics to examine the available data and gain a better understanding of how population density affects the number of cases across the nation and understand the built environment shapes human interaction and behavior. Living and working in high-density settings, high incidental contact environments increase non-socializing exposure to the virus.

Jay Martin, MBA Student

Robert Salvino discussed the economic impacts of COVID-19 on the Real Estate Club. Thank you for a wonderful year! We look forward to growing our organization and events for next year.

Thank you for a wonderful year! We look forward to growing our organization and events for next year.

Join the Real Estate Club on Coastal Connections, subscribe to our email list.

For more information, visit coastal.edu/business/grantcenter