

Universities in the United States are required by law to verify that all students entering the U.S. have adequate financial resources to meet the expenses of their academic program. F-1 students are required to show proof of available funds sufficient to cover the estimated cost of attendance for the first year of study and J-1 students are required to show proof of available funds sufficient to cover the total estimated cost of attendance for the full length of their program. The estimated costs are based on current costs, but actual costs may vary. University costs are subject to change and are expected to increase annually. For questions related to your student visa status, please contact internationalservices@coastal.edu.
